Royals don Hopeful "New Look" this Winter

One might choose to label the 1960-61 Cincinnati Royals the team with the "new look" in the National Basketball Association. A new coach, some outstanding rookies and a fine group of experienced veterans may provide Cincinnati with a desirable "new look" in professional basketball.

New Coach Charley Wolf, one of the few college coaches to ever step into the NBA, said in his pre-season thoughts: "We are shooting to finish above .500 this coming season."

Oscar Robertson, everybody's All-American the past three winters, heads the cast of rookies expected to spark the Royals up the Western Division ladder. As a guard, he not only scores well but he is an excellent passer and rebounder as well.

With his 6'5" height, the "Big O" may find himself at times at forward, helping the Royals' front-line corps. Bob Boozer, the Royals' No. 1 draft choice a year ago, despite his rookie status is expected to add life to the Royals' forward crop with his 6'8" height.

The third Royals' rookie, 6'4" guard Ralph Davis, may contribute speed, playmaking and outside scoring to the team.

Jack Twyman heads the returning group of eight veterans. The 6'6" forward is expected to maintain his excellent scoring touch along with exercising more of his passing and rebound talents.

One might say Phil Jordon, at 6'10", is the second-most important returnee. A four-year veteran of the NBA, Jordon has yet to come into his own with his all-around work at center. An inspired Jordon could be the KEY to the '60-'61 Royals.

Wolf makes no bones about the excellent desire of 6'9½" forward Hub Reed. What Reed lacks in scoring he makes up in rebounding and determination.

Larry Staverman, the other veteran forward lends the club fine spot scoring and rebounding.

Although Arlen (Bucky) Bockhorn leads the trio of returning guards, he is followed closely by Phil Rollins and Win Wilfong. Bockhorn is the aggressive leader, Rollins the top playmaker and Wilfong the hustling "breakout" scorer among the threesome.

The Royals hope to break out of the past 2 seasons' doldrums with their new look. Some necessary jelling, inspired improvement of the veterans and the youthful enthusiasm of the rookies may add luster to the new appearance.

Although the Western Division is expected to be its most competitive in years, the "new look" Royals may provide the necessary impetus to win the close games.

Charley Wolf Gives Royals

Charles Anthony Wolf must be regarded as one of at least three key factors to the Royals' "new look" for the 1960-61 season. Actually, one must regard the new coach of the Royals as the chief collaborator on any written description of this new look.

The 34-year-old Wolf was appointed to direct the newest Royals' edition April 25, 1960 to fill the vacancy caused by Tom Marshall's resignation. Tom had taken over the Royals early in the 1958-59 campaign and resigned the post in March to go into private business.

Third coach of the Royals since they moved to Cincinnati in 1957 from Rochester, N. Y., Wolf assumed his newest role after six successful years at Villa Madonna College. The small Catholic Diocesan school is located across the Ohio River from Cincinnati at Covington, Ky.

Charley's background makes him a well-known sports figure in the Greater Cincinnati area. The Covington, Ky. native first made headlines during his high school days at St. Xavier in Cincinnati before graduation in 1944.

A three-sports star at St. "X", Charley won All-Ohio honors as a football end, specializing in catching passes from quarterback George Ratterman, who later went on to fame at Notre Dame and with the Cleveland Browns.

Wolf entered Notre Dame on a football scholarship but a pre-season injury put him on the shelf as a freshman. Before the year was up, however, he played varsity basketball and baseball. Despite his youth, he was a leading reserve on Irish cage clubs which starred Leo Barnhorst and Kevin O'Shea, a couple of Notre Dame All-Americans.

Before going to Notre Dame for one year, Charley went into the U. S. Navy, serving two years from June 1944. He spent 13 months overseas, including time as a signalman on tankers between this country and England during World War II.

Basketball was part of Charley's Navy time as he played on the Camp Elliott, Calif. team which won 43 of 50 games. One-time Royal Jack Coleman was a teammate. In one game, Charley scored the winning basket in a 5-to-3 overtime victory over Camp Miramar, Calif., a team that boasted Bobby Wanzer, first coach of the Cincinnati Royals. Believe it or not for modern-day basketball!

"New Look" Appearance

Wolf left Notre Dame in June 1947 to sign into the Cincinnati Reds farm system. He played seven years of minor league ball before giving it up to become Villa Madonna's head basketball coach. Charley's first pro season resulted in a .352 batting average with Ogden, Utah of the Pioneer Class C League, his best pro ball stint.

Wolf left baseball in 1953 after hitting .275 with Scranton, Pa. in the Class A Eastern League. Before he left the sport, he saw action also with Columbia, S. C. in the Sally League, and Charleston, W. Va. and Saginaw, Mich. of the Central League, all Class A circuits.

Under Wolf's direction, Villa Madonna reactivated basketball in 1954. In six years, his Villa teams won 81 games and lost 56. Such teams as Niagara, Xavier, Tennessee A & I State, Eastern Kentucky, St. Bonaventure and Holy Cross appeared on Villa's schedule besides perennial conference foes.

Charley's collegians earned trips to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tourney (NAIA) twice despite the absence of a gym at Villa Madonna and the lack of a regular home floor. Absence of dormitory facilities restricted Wolf's recruiting to Greater Cincinnatians which makes his coaching feat even more impressive at Villa.

Charley's third year (19-7) and his last (19-12) were his best seasons at Villa. The 19-7 team knocked off third-seeded West Virginia Tech, highest-scoring team in the nation, at the Kansas City NAIA fray.

Wolf served two years as president of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. He was appointed Villa's athletic director a year after going to the school and was also baseball coach.

The tall (6'2½"), dark and handsome Wolf is married to the former Miss Loraine Pohlkamp, at one time a television personality known as "Sis Camp" in Cincinnati television circles.

The Wolfs are parents of two sons: Martin Charles, 3½ years old and Stephen Joseph, born March 23, 1960. They live at Taylor Mill in Kenton County, Kentucky, located outside of Covington.

Charley's education background includes a business administration degree from Xavier University, Cincinnati, in 1956. Besides his one year at Notre Dame, he has also taken work at Chase College Law School.

Wolf is employed year-round by the Royals. He made 47 speaking engagements during the summer of 1960.

He is an organizer, a disciplinarian and sharp-thinker by reputation. If these qualities can be exercised to the fullest, the Royals believe their new coach can make a "best seller" out of their "new look."

College—43 vs. San Jose State, '58
Pro—23 vs. St. Louis at Cincy, 11-22-59

Nickname: Hubber . . . Gives Royals both inside rebounding power and fine scoring from the corners. Spirit and determination among tops on the club. Although quiet in nature, Reed is a fierce competitor who sometimes "plays" the game 24 hours a day . . . Only bachelor on final '59-'60 Royals, Hub was married July 1, 1960 to hometown sweetheart Rose Vee Moore. Joined Royals Nov. 4, 1959 in trade which later in the season sent Dave Piontek to St. Louis. Hub was St. Louis' No. 2 draft choice in '58 . . . Hub's 45 percent field goal shooting topped Royal regulars last season. Likeable Hub's 23-point outburst against former mates came in 11th game as Royal . . . Sportsman who loves to fish and hunt. Off-season occupation: "Roughneck" in Oklahoma oil fields.

College—37 vs. East. Ky., '56
Pro—27 vs. Minn. at Phila., 3-3-60

Nicknames: Flip . . . Recognized as the Royals' top playmaker, Rollins could become a key veteran in new Coach Charley Wolf's '60-'61 plans. Phil looks for his first full season of play without any re-occurrence of a back injury that has interfered past two seasons . . . His January-through-March play last season had bright spots: He tied former Royal John McCarthy's assist record of 13 in 129-113 win over Knicks at Philadelphia on Jan. 6th. On March 3rd, he hit 27 points in117-114 loss to Lakers at Philly as he made 11 of 18 goal shots in 36 minutes. In season finale against Hawks at home, Phil scored 25 points . . . Royals' speed rises sharply when Phil is in lineup. Good outside set-shooter. Led Louisville to '56 NIT crown. Wife Barbara and Phil are parents of Brenda, 2 years and Vicki, born in May '60. College—27 vs. Xavier, 3-8-60

Nickname: Ralph . . . Royals' No. 3 draft choice of 1960, lean-and-lanky Davis showed in pre-season drills he may have necessary talents to win pro spurs. Wolf feels his speed is greatest asset but points up his shooting and defense as well . . . Star backcourt operative at University of Cincinnati for three seasons. Named outstanding playmaker in '60 East-West classic in New York. Crewcut Ralph earned All-Missouri Valley Conference first-team honors two years and was also an honorable mention All-American for two seasons. One of 14 named to players' own All-American as junior. Ralph's second varsity season best as he averaged 15.5 points and five assists per game. In regular-season finale last March against crosstown rival Xavier at Cincy Gardens, Davis had college career high of 27 points as he sank 11 of 16 field shots . . . Co-captain at UC alongside of Oscar Robertson. Davis is a bachelor.

MOST POINTS (SINGLE GAME) IN:
High School—62 vs. Sacred Heart, '56
College—62 vs. N. Texas State 2-8-60

Nicknames: "Ozz," Big O . . . Royals' No. 1 territorial draft choice in April '60 meeting at New York, Oscar is no doubt the most talked about collegian of the past 20 years. Joined team soon after leading the U. S. to Olympic Games gold medal basketball crown at Rome.

His 2,973 points in 88 varsity games as well as his composite 33.8 average are both new three-year national career records. First player to ever lead nation's scoring three year in a row . . . A two time Helms Athletic Foundation choice, he was a concensus All-American three consecutive years. He was "Player of the Year" three years in a row as rated by UPI and The Sporting News, two years by the U. S. Basketball Writers and was AP's top ballot-getter two straight years.

Oscar is the first to win the Gold Star Memorial Award three straight years given to the outstanding visiting collegian to appear in New York's Madison Square Garden . . . Holds 12 of the most significant 15 Missouri Valley Conference scoring marks, virtually every scoring and rebounding high at Cincinnati Univ. and 13 NCAA all-time records. "Big O" averaged 15.2 rebounds during varsity career, showed 425 assists in 60 games during last two seasons. Led team's scoring in 77 of 88 games. Low was 13 points and only seven times did he fail to score at least 20 points. Fouled out of only two games in college and only missed two games during entire career. An ankle injury forced him out of two freshman games four years ago. All-American high school player three straight years, he was Indiana's "Mr. Basketball" as a senior in 1956. Married in June to former Miss Yvonne Crittenden of Cincinnati. Off-season occupation: Thomas E. Wood Insurance, Inc.

Nicknames: Wilacki, Big Pheel, Flip . . . Tallest Royal, Jordon played all 75 league games last season along with Twyman and Bockhorn. Graceful moves and good shooting hands give this Northern California Wilacki Indian potential to become strong NBA inside scorer. At times, he has shown "stuff" to help out as a forward . . . Came to Royals in April '59 draft meeting trade which sent Archie Dees to Detroit. Club's second-best scorer last season . . . Phil saw 2,066 minutes of action, third high on team . . . One of heroes in Jan. 1st upset of Boston at Detroit which stopped Celtics' 17-game win streak. Phil scored 31 points, pulled down 20 rebounds (both season highs), fed off six assists and shot well (12-for-20 FG, 7-for-7 FT) in 37 minutes . . . In 8 of last 11 games last winter, Phil scored 20 or more points. In season finale against St. Louis, he scored 27 points, made 12 of 25 field goal shots, 15 rebounds and seven assists . . . He's a guitar "strummer" . . . Wife Julie and Phil are parents of Julie, age 5 and Jon Christian, born Dec. '59. Off-season occupation: Tacoma, Wash. city parks staff.
